Climbing Backward Out of Caves John R. Harris, 2015-03-17

The first draft of this rational case on behalf of religious faith was written in spring of 2010 Though much revised the book still comprises three parts offering complementary perspectives Why Science Cannot Be the Final Word logically demonstrates that the empirical approach what we commonly call science cannot possibly render conclusive answers to questions about the nature of ultimate reality It relies heavily upon Immanuel Kant s antinomies of pure reason Reasons to Be Suspicious of Faith presents some of the emotional responses frequently voiced by non believers In the absence of conclusive empirical evidence and logical proof we are left with feelings some of which are quite poignant Though these emotions deserve respect when they are genuine as opposed to derisive or exhibitionist all eventually undercut themselves in hopeless contradiction Finally Reasons to Be Inclined to Have Faith argues that our sentimental orientation as human beings becomes most coherent and is pointed in the most productive direction if we assume certain spiritual realities The rudiments of faith cannot be proved any more than they can be disproved Yet to assume a higher reality far from being less reasonable is much more so if we are trying to explain such cryptic inclinations as our admiration for selfless deeds and the crushing guilt we feel after committing a vile act The book seldom cites biblical passages Its intent is explicitly not to presume that the reader acknowledges the authority of any scriptural tradition but rather to place final authority in the soul s mirror a bared self examining heart and mind
