Take Care Warning Signals For Canadas Health System:

Health and Canadian Society David Coburn, Carl D'Arcy, George Murray Torrance, 1998-01-01 Health and Canadian Society provides a comprehensive overview of the relationship between health care and Canadian society. It is a wide ranging volume that moves from personal and micro concerns to a more macro and institutional focus. It includes chapters of a descriptive nature and others with a more explanatory intent. They have been selected from the major journals or have been expressly written for this book. Ninety five percent of the contributions are new to this edition. The chapters and the studies reported on are methodologically diverse ranging from ethnographic studies to statistical analyses of data from large national surveys. Though the chapters are written by anthropologists, economists, historians, political scientists and physicians as well as sociologists, they all have a sociological turn. Recognized as the standard textbook on the sociology of health in Canada, Health and Canadian Society is an essential reference for sociologists, health care providers, health administrators and policy planners.

Women's Organizing and Public Policy in Canada and Sweden Linda Briskin, Mona Eliasson, 1999. Contributors to this volume explore women's organizing and public policy in two northern welfare states, Canada and Sweden. They analyse the gender implications of some key areas of public policy and compare strategic interventions organized by women to challenge and reconstruct these policies. These articles seek to understand the constraints and possibilities provided by the institutional, political and discursive contexts in both Sweden and Canada while making women's agency visible.

The Doctor Dilemma Samuel Edward Dole Shortt, 1999. The Canadian health care system is undergoing fundamental restructuring that will necessitate important changes in doctors' professional roles. Rather than resisting such changes as has happened on occasion in the past, S. E. D. Shortt, a practising physician for two decades, argues that doctors could make significant contributions to the design and operation of a new system of health care and should become involved in the process.

Women & Public Policy in Canada Alexandra Zorianna Dobrowolsky, 2009. Women and Public Policy in Canada offers a theoretical and topical approach to studying the public policy issues that specifically affect Canadian women. Written by policy experts from across Canada, this contributed text exposes students to various perspectives and a wealth of expertise. Topics such as the environment, healthcare, Aboriginal women, economic policy, anti-violence policy, immigration and multiculturalism are covered, giving students insight into the most prevalent issues regarding women and public policy in Canada.

Language, Culture and Values in Canada at the Dawn of the 21st Century André Lapierre, Patricia Smart, Pierre Savard, International Council for Canadian Studies, 1996. Donation.

The Commodity of Care Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives, 2003. From the back cover: Home care is one of the fastest growing areas in health care today. A matter of expediency for policymakers and of convenience for patients, it is also a lucrative new market. In 1966 Ontario introduced managed competition to home care. The Commodity of Care explores the historical background of this change and assesses its impact on provider agencies, caregivers, care recipients and the very way care itself is conceived.

Power and Resistance Leslie Samuelson, Wayne Andrew Antony, 1998 The inequalities in the treatment of individuals whose gender race class or sexual orientation relegates them to a minority status are presented as the root cause of social economic and political problems in this survey of Canadian social issues

Take Care Pat Armstrong, 1994 Take Care Warning Signals for Canada's Health System examines the modern Canadian health care system and exposes the impact of neo conservative and market oriented policies showing the effect these have on patients and caregivers particularly women The voices of hospital workers relating their own daily experiences in the wards add a poignant urgency to the crucial question What kind of health care system will Canadians inherit in the twenty first century
