

SPORTING SCENES

AND

THE KAFFIRS OF SOUTH AFRICA.

BY

CAPT. ALFRED W. DRAYSON,

REGIMENTAL SURGEON.

*"Also in the forest I love to roam,
With the silent Bushman close by my side,
Down, steep, from the dwellings of men,
By the water's edge and the buffalo's glen;
By valleys sacred, where the oxen graze,
The gun, the goshawk, and the barbed spear;
Where the granite and steel and iron meet,
By the shore of grey forests o'ertopping wild trees."*

Frank Forester's Sporting Scenes and Characters Henry William Herbert, 1881 Sporting Scenes. Edited by E.L. Black ... and A.H. Lawley E. L. Black, Alec Henry Lawley, 1956 Sporting Scenes and Sundry Sketches J. Cypress, 1842 The Ottoman World of Sports Murat C. Yildiz, 2026-02-17 In the Ottoman Empire of the late 19th and early 20th centuries Istanbul was a cosmopolitan center with various religions and ethnicities intermingling including Muslims Jews Greek Orthodox and Armenian Christians and Catholics Y ld z explores how the concepts of sports and physical culture developed over this period and served to bring these different populations together while also hardening the boundaries between them in the growing middle class Especially as the Empire became part of the global network and the Ottomans desired to appear more modern activities such as gymnastics weightlifting and football became activities that all young men needed to perform regularly in order to develop into moral men regardless of their ethnic or religious background Relying on extensive multi lingual archives in a number of countries Y ld z examines how the idea of physical culture developed in schools and the opposition some parents had to their children wasting their time that way and expanded to sports clubs across the city that were divided by ethnicity religion but yet would come together to celebrate one another s holidays or festivals Similarly sports experts from the different populations of Istanbul collaborated on spreading the importance of physical culture even while instilling the virtues of sport within their own communities Sports columns in the daily newspapers and specialized sports magazines appeared bringing sports further into the public arena and creating a shared civic culture around them Likewise sports moved from school gymnasias and empty fields to new arenas further inculcating sporting culture within the civic body and displaying it as legitimate entertainment as people gathered to watch competitions and cheer on their teams Finally Y ld z examines how international sporting culture came to Istanbul through such activities as the newly reformed Olympics even as the divisions between ethnicities grew in how the press covered Ottoman athletes and teams He concludes by exploring how the First World War and events such as the Armenian genocide sharpened the divisions between groups and ended the idea of heterogeneous sporting areas and shared physical culture Provided by publisher Baily's Magazine of Sports & Pastimes ,1865 Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes ,1895 Hounds in the Morning Carl B. Cone, 2014-07-15 Across the rolling countryside of Regency England sound the call of the horn and the chorus of hounds as huntsmen hounds and horses tear across fields and leap fencerows in ardent pursuit of Reynard In a field outside London two brawny men strip to the waist and prepare to batter each other to a pulp for the pleasure of the Fancy the hundreds of boxing fans who have ridden from all over England to see and bet on the illegal match And through the streets of a country town the lads rough and tumble in a wildly joyous game of football while the populace cheers and the shopkeepers board up their windows Such were the sights and sounds of the sporting life of England a hundred and fifty years ago This sparkling collection of articles from the Sporting Magazine dating from 1792 to 1836 attests to the vigor and variety of

English sports in that era The equestrian sports of fox and stag hunting thoroughbred racing and coaching were largely the passion of the landed classes while all ranks of the populace relished bloody contests that set man against man or animal against animal boxing cock fighting bull baiting rat killing Throughout the land team sports such as football and cricket along with such individual activities as pedestrianism shooting archery and skating allowed men and women of all walks of life to test their muscles their endurance and their nerve All these people and events filled the pages of the Sporting Magazine the first periodical devoted exclusively to sports Carl Cone provides a historical framework for these lively accounts by the first sport journalists In addition more than fifty engravings from the heyday of sporting art illustrate the exuberance of the time
