Undiplomatic Notes Tales From The Canadian Foreign Service:

Canada's Department of External Affairs: Coming of age, 1946-1968 John Hilliker, Donald Barry, 1990 The second volume of the official history of the Department of External Affairs Coming of Age covers a period of remarkable expansion and achievement in Canadian external relations Undiplomatic Notes Sidney Freifeld, 1990-11-01 So you think diplomats lead uneventful lives presiding over tea beside the aspidistra Behind formal negotiations are events sometimes too hilarious and human for academic histories Beneath serene exteriors are people who from time to time are clowns And often the expectations of dignity and protocol only serve to heighten the antics From his 30 year career Sidney Freifeld at various desks at headquarters and in various embassies up through the ranks to ambassador recalls some of these tales He has gleaned other from colleagues or unofficial files Among the treats in Undiplomatic Notes Castro's table manners at an impromptu dinner The circus of incivility created by the arrogance of the Ceausescu clan and their entourage Calls in the night to deal with Moscow's howling cats Australian VIPs lost in the bowels of the Chateau Laurier A Canadian embassy held at gun point by a Canadian and Poetry to protest External's policy on decorations In addition treasury types will recognize one of theirs in the legendary Agnes McCloskey Small wonder that Mike Pearson had to plead with Ottawa from war torn London Please get us off your minds and the tales of quick switches from economy class to first and the two dollar dry cleaning bill will strike heart felt chords with those making travel claims Members of Canada's foreign service have helped thousands of their fellow citizens but few with more urgency than the member of Parliament visiting New York who tried to take his wife to his hotel room Legations run like military outposts the needs of beavers in transit and the exchange of diplomatic notes over a baseball game are more subjects for Undiplomatic Notes And for the uninitiated there are some useful chapters on what really really goes on Canada's Department of External Affairs, Volume 2 John Hilliker, Donald Barry, 1995-04-04 In 1946 with its own minister for the first time the Department of External Affairs embarked on a period of impressive growth and assumed responsibility for a broader range of foreign policy issues than ever before Under the expert guidance of Lester Pearson for a decade the department enjoyed popular and parliamentary consensus about international interests The election of the Diefenbaker government in 1957 deprived the department of Pearson's experienced ministerial direction and exposed it to new priorities and new ways of doing things At this time foreign policy consensus began to erode As well there was pressure to respond to the administrative revolution inaugurated by the Royal Commission on Government Organization the Glassco Commission appointed in 1960 After Pearson returned to office as prime minister in 1963 questioning by the public and also by the governing party and the cabinet became more fervent Coming of Age concludes in 1968 as indications of a challenge to the principles underlying Canadian foreign policy emerged from a new generation of ministers a challenge that would produce major changes after Pierre Trudeau became prime minister Envoys Extraordinary Margaret K. Weiers, 1995-11 This is not a book about foreign policy It is a book about women who stayed the course and are still on it influencing developing shaping and implementing Canadian foreign policy at home and abroad It is a story often told in their own words of twenty two remarkable women With charm grace dignity and intelligence these women survived that most quintessential of Canadian establishments the Department of External Affairs
