Undomesticated Ground:

Undomesticated Ground Stacy Alaimo, 2000 From Mother Earth to Mother Nature women have for centuries been associated with nature Feminists troubled by the way in which such representations show women controlled by powerful natural forces and confined to domestic space have sought to distance themselves from nature In Undomesticated Ground Stacy Alaimo issues a bold call to reclaim nature as feminist space Her analysis of a remarkable range of feminist writings as well as of popular journalism visual arts television and film powerfully demonstrates that nature has been and continues to be an essential concept for feminist theory and practice Alaimo urges feminist theorists to rethink the concept of nature by probing the vastly different meanings that it carries She discusses its significance for Americans engaged in social and political struggles from for example the Indian Wars of the early nineteenth century to the birth control movement in the 1920s to contemporary battles against racism and heterosexism Reading works by Catherine Sedgwick Mary Austin Emma Goldman Nella Larson Donna Haraway Toni Morrison and others Alaimo finds that some of these writers strategically invoke nature for feminist purposes while others cast nature as a postmodern agent of resistance in the service of both environmentalism and the women s movement By examining the importance of nature within literary and political texts this book greatly expands the parameters of the nature writing genre and establishes nature as a crucial site for the cultural work of feminism

A New Heartland Janet Galligani Casey, 2009-04-16 Modernity and urbanity have long been considered mutually sustaining forces in early twentieth century America But has the dominance of the urban imaginary obscured the importance of the rural How have women in particular appropriated discourses and images of rurality to interrogate the problems of modernity And how have they imbued the rural traditionally viewed as a locus for conservatism with a progressive political valence Touching on such diverse subjects as eugenics reproductive rights advertising the economy of literary prizes and the role of the camera A New Heartland demonstrates the importance of rurality to the imaginative construction of modernism modernity it also asserts that women as objects of scrutiny as well as agents of critique had a special stake in that relation Casey traces the ideals informing America s conception of the rural across a wide field of representational domains including social theory periodical literature cultural criticism photography and most especially women's rural fiction low as well as high Her argument is informed by archival research most crucially through a careful analysis of The Farmer's Wife the single nationally distributed farm journal for women and a little known repository of rural American attitudes Through this broad scope A New Heartland articulates an alternative mode of modernism by challenging orthodox ideas about gender and geography in twentieth century America

Marina Carr Melissa Sihra,2018-11-19 This book locates the theatre of Marina Carr within a female genealogy that revises the patriarchal origins of modern Irish drama The creative vision of Lady Augusta Gregory underpins the analysis of Carr's dramatic vision throughout the volume in order to re-situate the woman artist as central to Irish theatre For Carr writing is more about the things you cannot understand than the things you can and her evocation of pastures of the unknown forms the thematic through line of this work Lady Gregory's plays offer an intuitive lineage with Carr which can be identified in their use of language myth landscape women the transformative power of storytelling and infinite energies of nature and the Otherworld This book reconnects the severed bridge between Carr and Gregory in order to acknowledge a foundational status for all women in Irish theatre

Bodily Natures Stacy Alaimo,2010-10-25 How do we understand the agency and significance of material forces and their interface with human bodies What does it mean to be human in these times with bodies that are inextricably interconnected with our physical world Bodily Natures considers these questions by grappling with powerful and pervasive material forces and their increasingly harmful effects on the human body Drawing on feminist theory environmental studies and the sciences Stacy Alaimo focuses on trans-corporeality or movement across bodies and nature which has profoundly altered our sense of self By looking at a broad range of creative and philosophical writings Alaimo illuminates how science politics and culture collide while considering the closeness of the human body to the environment

Reconceiving Nature PATRICIA MURPHY,2019-03-28 Surprisingly glimmerings of ecofeminist theory that would emerge a century later can be detected in women's poetry of the late Victorian period In Reconceiving Nature Patricia Murphy examines the work of six ecofeminist poets Augusta Webster Mathilde Blind Michael Field Alice Meynell Constance Naden and L S Bevington who contested the exploitation of the natural world Challenging prevalent assumptions that nature is inferior rightly subordinated and deservedly manipulated these poets instead reconstructed nature

Black to Nature Stefanie K.

Dunning,2021-04-22 In Black to Nature Pastoral Return and African American Culture author Stefanie K Dunning considers both popular and literary texts that range from Beyoncé's Lemonade to Jesmyn Ward's Salvage the Bones. These key works restage Black women in relation to nature. Dunning argues that depictions of protagonists who return to pastoral settings contest the violent and racist history that incentivized Black disavowal of the natural world. Dunning offers an original theoretical paradigm for thinking through race and nature by showing that diverse constructions of nature in these texts are deployed as a means of rescrambling the teleology of the Western progress narrative. In a series of fascinating close readings of contemporary Black texts she reveals how a range of artists evoke nature to suggest that interbeing with nature signals a call for what Jared Sexton calls the dream of Black Studies abolition. Black to Nature thus offers nuanced readings that advance an emerging body of critical and creative work at the nexus of Blackness, gender, and nature. Written in a clear, approachable, and multilayered style that aims to be as poignant as nature itself, the volume offers a unique combination of theoretical breadth, narrative beauty, and broader perspective that suggests it will be a foundational text in a new critical turn towards framing nature within a cultural studies context. Book Review Digest, 2002. "Ever Learning to Dwell" Christine Renee Wilson, 2008. International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature Chiefly in the Fields of Arts and Humanities and the Social Sciences, 2003. Feminist Theory (II) Joan Nordquist, 2000. Each bibliography includes a comprehensive list of the theorist's works and critical studies of these works in English. Each bibliography contains approximately 600 to 900 entries: books, journal articles, essays, within edited books, in the manner of Essay and General Literature, and dissertations are included. References are provided from a wide variety of disciplines and bibliographic sources. The primary purpose of each bibliography is to provide access to the widely reprinted primary works in English and the critical literature in a great variety of books and journals. The topical bibliographies include the authoritative works on the subject and are arranged in useful categories. The lively part of the modern/post-modern debate is generally taking place in alternative and left journals, journals always included in the literature search in the compiling of the bibliographies.

Women's Studies Index, 2003. Canadian Studies Linda Marilyn Jones, Ginette Hébert, International Council for Canadian Studies, 1997. Feminist Periodicals, 2004. Fronteras, 2000. Material Feminisms Stacy Alaimo, Susan J. Hekman, 2008. Harnessing the energy of provocative theories generated by recent understandings of the human body, the natural world, and the material world, Material Feminisms presents an entirely new way for feminists to conceive of the question of materiality. In lively and timely essays, an international group of feminist thinkers challenges the assumptions and norms that have previously defined studies about the body. These wide-ranging essays grapple with topics such as the material reality of race, the significance of sexual difference, the impact of disability, experience, and the complex interaction between nature and culture. Intraumatic events such as Hurricane Katrina. By insisting on the importance of materiality, this volume breaks new ground in philosophy, feminist theory, cultural studies, science studies, and other fields where the body and nature collide.
