The Global Information Technology Report 2003-2004 World Economic Forum, 2004 The Global information Technology is published by the World Economics Forum where it is a special project within the framework of the Global Competitiveness Programme The GITR is the result of a collaboration between the World Economics Forum infoDev and INSEAD First published in 2001 The global Information Technology Report has become the most authoritative and comprehensive assessment of the networked readiness of national economies around the world The Report has since expanded its coverage this year to 102 countries The Report which captures new insights and best serve as a tool for policymakers and business leaders The overall goal of the Reports is to establish a process whereby key stakeholders can evaluate progress on a continual basis Human Development Report 2005 United Nations Development Programme, 2005 The Human Development Report 2005 examines the scale of the challenge facing the world at the start of the ten year countdown to the 2015 Millennium Development Goals mark The Report focuses on three pillars of cooperation each of which is in urgent need of renovation The first pillar is international aid the Millennium Development Goals MDGs project has been compromised by chronic and sustained under financing allied to problems in aid quality The second pillar is international trade Under the right conditions trade can act as a powerful catalyst for human development The development round of World Trade Organization talks launched in 2001 provided northern governments with an opportunity to create those conditions The third pillar is that of security violent conflict is a source of systematic human rights violation and a barrier to progress towards the MDGs that must be overcome World Development Report 2003 World Bank, 2003 This report argues that polarized societies have difficulties coordinating actions to eliminate externalities and provide public goods It stresses that ensuring economic growth and improved management of the planet's ecosystem requires a reduction in poverty and inequality at all levels World Development Report 2003 World Bank, World Bank Staff, 2003 This book is also directly available from the publisher Alfaomega Colombiana Calle 106A No 22 56 Bogota DC Colombia This book is also directly available from the publisher Mundi Prensa Libros S A Castello 3728001 Madrid Spain Three billion people will be added to the world's population over the next 50 years and 2.8 billion people today already live on less than 2 a day almost all in developing countries Ensuring these people have access to productive work and a better quality of life is the core development challenge of the first half of this century Growth could itself be jeopardized over the longer term unless a transformation of society and the management of the environment are addressed integrally with economic growth Now in its 25th edition this year's World Development Report examines over a 50 year period the relationship between competing policy objectives of reducing poverty maintaining growth improving social cohesion and protecting the environment The World Development Report 2003 emphasizes that many good policies have been identified but not implemented due to distributional issues and barriers to developing better institutions The Report reviews institutional innovations that might help overcome these barriers and stresses that ensuring economic growth and improved management of the planet's ecosystem requires a reduction in poverty and inequality at all levels local national and international As in previous editions the World Development Report 2003 contains an appendix of selected indicators from the World Development Indicators

World Development Report 2003 ,2002 World Development Report 2003 World Bank,2003 This 2003 World Development Report is concerned with the dynamic development in a sustainable world of the transformation in the quality of life growth and institutions World Development Report 2003 (Overview) ,2002 World Development Report 2003 Banque internationale pour la reconstruction et le développement,2002 Corruption as an Empty Signifier Lucy Koechlin,2013-05-23 Corruption as an Empty Signifier critically explores the ways in which corruption in Africa has been equated with African politics and political order and offers a novel approach to understanding corruption as a potentially emancipatory discourse of political transformation States, Scarcity, and Civil Strife in the Developing World Colin H. Kahl,2018-06-05 Over the past several decades civil and ethnic wars have undermined prospects for economic and political development destabilized entire regions of the globe and left millions dead States Scarcity and Civil Strife in the Developing World argues that demographic and environmental stress the interactions among rapid population growth environmental degradation inequality and emerging scarcities of vital natural resources represents one important source of turmoil in today s world Kahl contends that this type of stress places enormous strains on both societies and governments in poor countries increasing their vulnerability to armed conflict He identifies two pathways whereby this process unfolds state failure and state exploitation State failure conflicts occur when population growth environmental degradation and resource inequality weaken the capacity legitimacy and cohesion of governments thereby expanding the opportunities and incentives for rebellion and intergroup violence State exploitation conflicts in contrast occur when political leaders themselves capitalize on the opportunities arising from population pressures natural resource scarcities and related social grievances to instigate violence that serves their parochial interests Drawing on a wide array of social science theory this book argues that demographically and environmentally induced conflicts are most likely to occur in countries that are deeply split along ethnic religious regional or class lines and which have highly exclusive and discriminatory political systems The empirical portion of the book evaluates the theoretical argument through in depth case studies of civil strife in the Philippines Kenya and numerous other countries The book concludes with an analysis of the challenges demographic and environmental change will pose to international security in the decades ahead World Development Report 2003 World Bank, Human Development Report ,2002 World Development Report 2003 ,2002 The report examines the relationship among competing policy objectives reducing poverty maintaining growth improving social cohesion and protecting the environment over a 50 year horizon The report is divided into nine chapters which deal with topics ranging from Global Problems and Local Concerns to Getting the Best from Cities While the casual reader may not have time to read the entire report there is a 30 page overview that provides a description of the basic themes contained within the full report At its essence the report

argues that development is sustainable if the rules of the game are transparent and the game is inclusive This important document will be especially relevant to those with an interest in sustainable development from an inclusive and global perspective Human Development Report 2003 United Nations Development Programme,2003 Discusses the Millennium Development Goals MDGs the targets set for reductions in poverty improvements in health and education and protection of the environment around the world by the year 2015 World development report 2003 dynamic development in a sustainable world Banco Mundial,2002 Industrial Development Report ,2004
