   The Development Factory Gary P. Pisano,1997 When the pharmaceuticals giant Merck reports promising results for a potential blockbuster drug the story makes the evening news Now at a time when new product development has become critical to success in so many industries The Development Factory proves that process innovation not just product innovation can be the key to competitive edge In this multiyear study of pharmaceutical and biotechnology firms Gary Pisano explores the dynamics of superior product and process development in a highly competitive industry that lives and dies by its R D and depends heavily on rapid time to market His work reveals that behind the success of many new product introductions lies the development of novel process technologies that provide lower costs higher quality and increased flexibility Pisano challenges the widely held product process life cycle view of competition which suggests that industries tend to emphasize either product innovation or process innovation He also questions the notion that there is a conflict between pursuit of product innovation and pursuit of lower costs arguing that product development and process development capabilities are complementary Extending the lessons to a wide variety of manufacturing industries The Development Factory will guide companies toward unlocking the potential of process development and understanding the patterns of organizational behavior and managerial actions that help create and implement new capabilities over time     Analyzing Best Practices in Technology Education Marc J. de Vries,Rod Custer,John Dakers,Gene Martin,2007-01-01 Inspired by a similar book in science education the editors of this volume have put together a book with a practice oriented approach towards technology education research Teachers accounts of successful classroom activities are used as the basis for reflection on what determines good technology education practice Part I has eight stories told by teachers Topics range from puppet making to electronics and biotechnology The teachers were nominated by academic technology education experts Part II has eleven essays by such experts in which they identify those elements in the teachers accounts that they consider to be justifications for calling that practice good Focuses in these essays are technological literacy ethics culture design stakeholders attitudes motivation teaching approaches social aspects differentiation and assessment For technology education the first book that is based on reflection on successful practice as an approach for developing research insights for this curricular domain

Indigenous Technology Knowledge Systems Mishack T. Gumbo,P. John Williams,2023-07-21 There has been a growing interest in indigenous knowledge systems and research This interest has been mainly triggered by the need to decolonize education as a response to the colonial onslaught on indigenous knowledge and people Research has however concentrated on the generality of the indigenous knowledge system rather than on its related dimensions One area that has suffered a lack of attention is indigenous conceptions of science technology engineering and mathematics STEM despite the unquestionable evidence of STEM in indigenous contexts Most STEM is presented by colonial establishments and representations especially in developed modern urban contexts which portray STEM as a colonial construct This book focuses on indigenous technological knowledge systems education ITKSE Indigenous people have been at the front of technological developments from pre colonial times The list of precolonial industries science and technology is extensive including blacksmithing wood carving textile weaving and dyeing leather works beadworks pottery making architecture agricultural breeding metal working salt production gold smithing copper smithing leather crafting soap making bronze casting canoe building brewing glass making and agriculture for example In some parts of the world such as Africa and Australia these technologies still exist ITKSE should not be left to exist outside of the technology education curriculum and classroom as it can benefit both indigenous students who have been denied learning about what is relevant to them and non indigenous students These cultural groups can expand their knowledge of technology by learning both ITKSE and Western technological knowledge systems education WTKSE ITKSE also presents opportunities for technology teachers to reflect on and revisit their depth of technological knowledge pedagogies and assessment The intent of this book is transformational in the sense that it brings decolonial and indigenous perspectives into the technology education context It extends technology education in the sense that it will not only influence Western minded architects artisans designers etc but encourage indigenous mindedness as well
