Media and Propaganda in an Age of Disinformation

Nelson Ribeiro, Barbie Zelizer, 2025-03-19 A critical and timely collection that argues for the centrality of propaganda in discussions about the contemporary media landscape and its informational ecosystems This book explores how propaganda a foundational concept within media and communication studies has recently been replaced by alternative terms disinformation misinformation and fake news that fail to capture the continuities and disruptions of ongoing strategic attempts to mis guide public opinion Edited by Nelson Ribeiro and Barbie Zelizer the collection highlights how these concepts must be understood as part of a long legacy of propaganda and not just as new phenomena that have emerged in the context of the digital media environment Chapters explore the strategies and effects of propaganda through a variety of globally diverse case studies featuring both democracies and autocratic regimes and highlight how only by understanding propagandistic forms and strategies can we fully begin to understand how public opinion is being molded today by those who resort to deception and falsehood to gain or keep hold of power An important resource for students and scholars of media and communication studies and those who are studying and or researching media and propaganda media and power disinformation fake news and political communication The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
